

Executive Bio

Allan Zander, Chief Executive Officer

Allan Zander joined DataKinetics® as CEO on January 1, 2009. Allan drives business growth for DataKinetics, a leader in critical information systems optimization for mainframe applications.

Allan has achieved a distinguished record of excellence. He contributed to the business success of Solacom Technologies as Vice President of Business Development and CML Emergency Services as Director of Product Management. Allan has also held senior positions with world-class organizations such as Mitel Networks and Nortel Networks.

An entrepreneur at heart, Allan co-founded two businesses: Envision Software & Systems and Canadian Imperative Corporation. Early in his career he developed, grew, and successfully exited one and continues to keep a hand in the other. Through Canadian Imperative Corporation, Allan helps aspiring entrepreneurs to commercialize innovative technical ideas. It is his own entrepreneurial spirit, as well as interpersonal and leadership skills, that drives Allan to greater and greater challenges in his professional career.

Allan graduated with a Bachelor of Engineering Science and Bachelor of Computing Science from the University of Western Ontario. Allan is a 2007 recipient of the coveted Ottawa Business Journal Top 40 Under 40 award.
